

Extraordinary Service: Tipton Communications Creates, Launches Website for Cordjia Capital Projects Group In One Weekend

WILMINGTON, DEL., April 14, 2009 — When Cordjia Capital Projects Group needed its company Website to be written, designed and launched in just one weekend, it turned to Tipton Communications, the Newark, Del.-based web design, creative services and business communications company, which has developed a reputation for its flexibility and commitment to customer service.

Cordjia Capital Projects Group, www.cordjiacapitalprojects.com, a comprehensive project management, cost management, architectural, and engineering services firm, needed the site developed in the short time-frame so it would be available for an impromptu investors meeting.

“We couldn’t have been more pleased with the results,” said Blaine Buck, President and CEO of Cordjia Capital Projects Group. “Despite the time frame, Tipton Communications helped us define our brand and delivered a Website that resonates with our customers. We rely on Tipton Communications for their professionalism and willingness to go the extra mile to meet our needs.”

Tipton Communications, www.tiptoncommunications.com, which provides employee communications, marketing communications and public relations services, was founded by Dan Tipton in 2005. The company’s mission is to provide superior business communications backed by extraordinary customer service—the same tenet Tipton extolled at MBNA Corporation, where he served as director of communications for more than a decade.

“We were hired on a Thursday, and the site had to be launched before an investor meeting the following Monday,” said Tipton, who serves as president and CEO of Tipton Communications. “We wrote the content, designed the site and then managed it through development and coding. It launched on Sunday—with a day to spare,” he added.

About Cordjia Capital Projects Group

Cordjia Capital Projects Group is part of the Cordjia (www.cordjia.com) family of companies, which also includes Cordjia Private Equity, Cordjia Technology Services, and Cordjia Business Advisory Services. For more information, please visit www.cordjiacapitalprojects.com.

About Tipton Communications

Tipton Communications supports its clients with award-winning business communications services, including employee communications, strategic communications planning, public relations, community relations, investor relations, marketing communications, Web design and development, benefits communications, graphic design and writing. We are at your service! For more information, please visit www.tiptoncommunications.com.

###

CONTACT:

Dan Tipton
President, Tipton Communications
Email: info@tiptoncommunications.com
Phone: 302-454-7901